Victory for kids' army

Junior heritage guardians win listed status for village memorial

JUNIOR citizens have won the battle to get listed status for a landmark war memorial.

Pupils from Charlton Manor Primary School won a Grade II listing for the village war memorial as part of a nationwide campaign to get protection for 2,500 memorials.

The school is the first in London to successfully apply for a listing by Historic England, which pledged to protect hundreds of memorials by 2018 to mark the centenary of the First World War.

The Charlton village landmark was erected in 1920 to commemorate the 230 men from Charlton who died in the war, including three brothers from the Tumber family. More names were later added to remember those who died
during World War II.

Year 5 pupils worked with Helen Spencer, local heritage education manager from Historic England, to write an application so the memorial could be considered for listing.

The children visited the memorial, took photographs and made detailed notes on its setting and design. They researched its history using newspaper reports provided by the Royal Greenwich Heritage Trust.

They also investigated the stories behind the 230 names inscribed on it, including the three Tumber brothers who died in 1917.

Taylor McGlone of year 5 said: "The soldiers must be remembered as they gave their lives for us so that we could live a good life."

The school held a special assembly last Tuesday (March 15) before year 5 pupils walked to the memorial to lay a wreath with councillors and representatives from Historic England.

My family and I love the Cutty Sark

I was amazed to read the critical comments about the Cutty Sark in Greenwich Time (March 8). My family and I love the Cutty Sark. Far from being half the ship she used to be, we think it is hugely improved. Most importantly, the almost impossible task has been achieved of offering something for all ages from fun to historical fact, including activities that are imaginative and interactive. I take my four grandchildren aged from three to 13 and we are all happy! In fact, I think the three-year-old would like to live on board! As to value for money, it is always possible to buy Royal Maritime Museum membership. I pay £60 a year for one adult and four children. For that there are lots of things we can do without paying any more, including the planetarium shows and visits to the Cutty Sark as often as we like. I think that is excellent value and am so pleased I live just a bus ride away from these wonderful local attractions.

Patricia Somerset, Eltham

Moving bus stop makes shopping difficult

I AM writing about the bus stop being removed opposite the new Sainsbury's store in Bugsby's Way, Charlton. I have spoken to TfL and they say it was removed due to health and safety reasons with the full backing of Greenwich council. The next stop is a further 250 metres and right on top of a busy road junction. What's the point in building these stores then making them impossible for the elderly to shop there? Surely Greenwich Council and TfL can get together and see if something can be done about it.

Peter McNaboe, Kidbrooke

● A council spokesperson said: "The council works in partnership with Transport for London to provide safe public transport facilities. We also try to locate bus stops in places which are convenient for the travelling public. As part of the new shopping centre development, new signal pedestrian crossings have been provided at Bugsby's Way and Gallions Road and the location of new south bound and north bound bus stops ensure a safe route for pedestrians. We appreciate that the distance between the southbound bus stop and the store is some 200m, however the current location is the closest practicable safe location. The walking distance is within TfL's guidelines for walking distances to bus stops although we appreciate that this may be inconvenient for some people."

involved in Historic England's Heritage Schools Programme, which aims to encourage children to develop an understanding of their local heritage.

Ruth Cavender, learning and volunteer officer for War Memorials Trust, which helped the school survey the condition of the war memorial, said: "As tomorrow's custodians it is crucial we engage young people so that they can play their part in ensuring that our war memorials are protected."

Invicta Primary school has just submitted an application to list their local war memorial, at St John the Evangelist Church, in Blackheath.

The children's memorial campaign ties in with a four-year council project to restore war memorials across the royal borough.

Tracy Stringfellow, chief executive of Royal Greenwich Heritage Trust, said: "The listing of the Charlton memorial is a very welcome development. It will support the ongoing work of the trust, the local council and other agencies to conserve and value local memorials, while creating new opportunities for the involvement of the local community."

New poster campaign alert over Blue Badge fraud

THE council is cracking down on fraudulent use of Blue Badge parking permits following a recent spate of misuse.

A new poster campaign is being launched to remind people that the permits are only to be used for disabled residents.

The permits are issued to individuals who fit the eligibility criteria and abuse of the scheme is not tolerated by the royal borough.

A spokesman said: "Genuine Blue Badge holders are inconvenienced by other car drivers who take up valuable parking spaces while misusing permits they have no right to use.

"As part of its continuing commitment to prevent and detect fraud the council is now taking more rigorous action with Blue Badge misuse.

"Anti-fraud investigators are active across the borough and will look into any suspected abuse of the Blue Badge scheme."

If you suspect someone of committing Blue Badge fraud call 0800 169 6975 or email Blue-Badge-Fraud@royalgreenwich.gov.uk - information will be treated in confidence.

GCSEs

GCSE students are encouraged to start thinking about the many post-16 options open to them from September.

And there's lots of advice to help them make their choices. The council works with various organisations to expand the range of options available for post-16 students including college courses, apprenticeships and training schemes.

Year 11 students making up their minds about the next step got a helping hand when the council hosted a Progression Fair at Greenwich Community College (GCC) earlier this month.

Students talked to employers, schools, colleges and teachers about their options.

Jaye Davidson from Newhaven School is looking to do mechanical engineering full time or start an apprenticeship. He said: "I found it very helpful. I now know that I need to achieve at least a grade C in English and maths this year. I have information from University Tech College, GCC, Shooters Hill 6th Form and the Greenwich Local Labour and Business service (GLLaB). I'm going to make sure I get the grades."

Morgan Duncan, from Plumstead Manor School, is hoping to start an apprenticeship or course in business and finance. She said: "I spoke to the lady from Barclays and she told me exactly what I needed and where to apply. She used to be a student in Greenwich and did an apprenticeship, followed by a degree and management course - all through starting an apprenticeship with Barclays. I'm really excited."

Antzela Bentrosin, 18, is currently studying for a travel and tourism qualification at GCC and said: "I really enjoy my course and it has given me many opportunities to meet employers and people who actually work in the tourism industry."

Secondary schools in the royal borough also offer one-to-one support and advice to pupils to help them assess their options.

Sub-letting fraudster caught by council team

A HOUSING association tenant who illegally sub-let his Thamesmead flat while living in his own home has been ordered to complete 180 hours community service.

The Ealing housing officer, formerly of Keynes Court, Thamesmead, was found guilty at Woolwich Crown Court of an offence under the Fraud Act 2006 and was given a 12-month community punishment order to complete the unpaid work.

He was also ordered to pay Greenwich Council's costs of £4,272 and a £60 victim surcharge.

The court heard how he was granted tenancy of a two-bedroom flat at Keynes Court in 2009, by Gallions Housing Association, where he said he would be living with his wife and child.

In 2014, Greenwich Council and the housing association began working together in a crackdown on tenants who sub-let.

They discovered that the man had bought a house in Purfleet, Essex, in 2004 where Thurrock Council confirmed he was living with his wife.

When interviewed by royal borough officers, he denied that he had been sub-letting but accepted that he was not using Keynes Court as his principle home.

The housing officer was summonsed by the council to appear at Bexley Magistrates Court in September 2014 when he pleaded not guilty to the fraud charge.

He elected for trial at crown court where the jury returned a unanimous guilty verdict last month.

The case is the first prosecution arising from work undertaken by the council with local registered social landlords (RSLs) to tackle social housing fraud.

The investigations with Gallions Housing Association, which is now part of Peabody housing association, have resulted in the recovery of 23 properties.

Nicci Talbot-Morris, head of neighbourhoods at Peabody housing association said: "Peabody is committed to ensuring that people do not use our homes to profit from the shortage of affordable housing in London.

"We are delighted to have worked in partnership with Royal Greenwich to recover this property which can now be offered to people who are in genuine housing need."

● If you suspect someone of committing fraud against the council, call 0800 169 6975 or email fraud@royalgreenwich.gov.uk - any information will be treated in confidence.

CACT up for third community award

THE work of the Charlton Athletic Community Trust (CACT) has been recognised once again after it was shortlisted for the Johnstone's Paint Community Club of the Year last week.

CACT is among five other club schemes nominated for its success engaging with their local community. The winner is due to be announced at the Football League Awards on April 17.

In 2009 it won Football League Championship Community Club of the Year and followed that up in 2013 with an award for Football League Community Club of the Year.

CACT CEO Jason Morgan said: "It's great to have our work recognised and to be shortlisted for such a prestigious award. Huge credit and thanks must go to our staff, coaches and partners that support our work. Without their ongoing commitment to the cause, recognitions like this wouldn't always be possible."

Building bridges for befrienders

DEDICATED fundraiser Hilary Longstretch arrived back in Woolwich last week (March 12) after completing the last leg of a 78-mile charity walk.

The venture took her all around London's Capital Ring and the round trip, which began in SE18 on January 3.

Hilary trekked the Capital Ring, a network of walks orbiting London, to highlight the work of the New Bridge charity – and its prisoner befriending work. She has already raised over £8,000 for the cause since January 3. New Bridge is a small national charity, which currently has 180 volunteers from all walks of life who befriend over 400 prisoners.

Volunteers, staff and supporters celebrated the completion of her journey at Woolwich Town Hall, with the event also marking the charity's 60th anniversary.

Hilary told GT: "The walk has been a great experience. It's been a bit like being a New Bridge volunteer – progressing slowly, persisting, with some setbacks but with lots of enjoyable surprises too.

I really recommend the walk and the volunteering."

Bid to save historic red phone box

AN appeal has been launched to save and renovate the iconic red phone box opposite Cutty Sark in Greenwich (pictured right). The campaign, which uses 'Crowdfunder' to gather donations, has been organised by the Red Kiosk Company and its charitable foundation called Thinking Outside the Box. The campaign runs until March 30 and aims to raise £4,000 to restore the box in Cutty Sark Gardens. It was designed back in the 1930s by architect Sir Giles Gilbert Scott. If the campaign meets its target, the Red Kiosk Company will guarantee to maintain the phone box for the next five years. Donors contributing £25 or more will receive a personalised panel on the side of the booth. Larger donations of more than £1200 will give the donor opportunities to get the keys to their phone box, and use the space to help community projects.

Warm welcome for heat recycling project funds

AN exciting project to deliver low-cost and low-carbon heat to local businesses and council homes in East Greenwich has come a step nearer.

The council has been given £50,250 by the government's Department of Energy and Climate Change to carry out in-depth study into the use of renewable technologies and SMART controls for generating and distributing heat.

The council successfully bid for a share of a £1.5 million funding pot, which is being shared between 24 local authorities to fund research into district heat networks which recover heat from wasted hot water produced by power stations.

If it gets the go-ahead, the scheme would be able to distribute low-carbon heat to the homes of local families and businesses. The project would be an important part of the royal borough's climate change strategy and its plans to reduce carbon emissions. It also has the potential to lower energy bills for local residents, tackle fuel poverty, and help create jobs.

// This is part of a push to change the way that communities heat their homes, businesses and hospitals //

Lord Bourne, government energy and climate change minister, said: "The money that has been given to the Royal Borough of Greenwich is part of a push to change the way that communities heat their homes, businesses and hospitals – using wasted heat to warm buildings, cut bills and reduce carbon emissions. It is also an excellent example of how local people can work together with government to boost jobs and investment in their area."

New group to pinpoint local crime concerns

GRANTS to help tackle crime are available from a new group set up to give police a steer on the crimes that are causing local people the most concern.

The Greenwich Safer Neighbourhood Board, is made up of members of Safer Neighbourhood Panels, the Greenwich Neighbourhood Watch Association, faith leaders, and the Independent Custody Visitor Scheme. Other members are from the Greenwich Inclusion Project (GrIP), Greenwich Association of Disabled People, METRO, the HER Centre, and the Community Payback service.

The group aims to set priorities for policing and crime, monitor police performance, and identify crime prevention projects, working with local people.

The group is being funded by the Mayor of London's Office for Policing and Crime (MOPAC). Between £5,000 and £6,000 is available locally for projects that tackle local crime concerns such as burglary, vandalism, violence, robbery and antisocial behaviour. Funds are also available to support local groups who want to make their communities safer. The deadline for applications is 4pm on April 15.

Great Tema work

A DELEGATION from the Greenwich twin town of Tema in Ghana have been enjoying meeting local people and visiting some of the sights of the royal borough.

Mayor Isaac Ashai Odamtten, accompanied by his wife and teenage son, led a ten-strong group of teachers and civic officers on the visit which included fact-finding discussions as well as social events.

Last Thursday evening they were invited to a Q&A session with members of the Ghana Greenwich Association which acting secretary Dora Akesse-Brempong said was a great success.

"The mayor told us about life in Ghana and answered lots of questions. It was a good networking opportunity," she said.

Other events during the group's visit included a Bavarian evening at Charlton Manor Primary School last Friday and a formal reception at the Town Hall with the mayor, Cllr Norman Adams and council leader Cllr Denise Hyland. They were due to visit the Royal Observatory yesterday (Monday) before flying home today.

The visit was hosted by the deputy leader, Cllr John Fahy, who leads on town twinning.

Nepalese women build a summer house

A group of 30 Nepalese women are building their own 'shed at the bottom of the garden' where they can escape to meet friends.

They're erecting a wooden summer house which will be decorated in traditional Nepalese style, on their allotment in Middle Park Avenue, Eltham, and will be fitted with a stove so they can socialise and cook together.

The group recently organised a blessing day on site last with prayers led by the Plumstead Hindu Temple. The gardening project is called 'Together We Grow', and the group hopes to sell produce and other articles they make.

Community leader Sonia Thapa, who led the local appeal after last year's devastating earthquake in Nepal, said: "We are funding it from a £20,000 grant from the Ministry of Defence's Covenant Fund, which came as a big shock to us.

"The group is made up of women and children, and dedicated to Gurkha war widows. This project aims to help prevent them feeling isolated. The council kindly let us have the allotment land. It was overgrown, and local people are working with an ex-army landscaper to tidy it. The women are doing some of the building work themselves, such as painting the summer house to look like a Nepalese building, and making a raised bed for growing. Everyone is so excited. They decided to get their hands and their boots dirty to create a better community for their children to grow in. They are a true inspiration."

Film making enterprise reforms addicts

by Laraine Clay

TWO recovering drug addicts are offering support to other people struggling with addiction through their film making social enterprise.

Christine Lutz and Mark Brown started SElect18 – a nod to their local post-code – a year ago and are excited by the progress they have already made.

As well as making short films for the 1000 Londoners project, a digital portrait of the capital, they have made promotional films for organisations and businesses, and mini-features on local people, many of them also recovering addicts.

“When we look back at some of the things we did when we first started out, it looks pretty amateurish compared to what we do now,” said 51-year-old Christine.

One of their latest films is about the kidnapping – and, luckily, retrieval – of Christine's much-loved dog Archie. It is part of the 1000 Londoners project but was also included in a film night at Hackney Picturehouse.

“It was shown with seven other canine-themed short films at the event called City of Dogs and it was sold out, they had to turn people away from the box office,” Christine told Greenwich Time.

“It was a great night. If someone had told me a year ago that people would be watching my film in a place like that and telling me how much they enjoyed my film and how good they thought it was, I would never have believed them.”

Christine said she turned to film as part of her recovery from 37 years on drugs: “I like people anyway but I think film is a great way of being able to tell someone's story.”

“For me it was initially something to do as I'd stopped drugs and needed something to fill the void.”

She was helped along the way by CRI Aspire Greenwich, a treatment programme for people affected by substance misuse where she now volunteers.

It was while in treatment there that she met fellow SElect18 founder Mark

Brown, 45, another person in recovery after years in and out of addiction.

They were put in contact with Chocolate Films in Battersea, which has supported them to get started, and they have since received funding from Greenwich Council.

Christine explained: "Chocolate Films have been great, they showed us the ropes and guide us but basically it's our own input now. We hope to go it alone next April."

This spring she and Mark plan to move from their current base at the British Film Institute on South Bank to Ravensbourne College on Greenwich Peninsula.

They have more film projects lined up, some of which they hope to be paid for, and they also plan to take part in a film festival being organised in the borough later this year.

In the meantime they are enjoying the thrill of seeing their films watched by an ever-expanding audience.

As well as featuring on YouTube and on the 1000 Londoners Facebook page, one of their recent films, Easy Riders - which features former drug addict Jay who is now a British motorcycle racing champion - was screened at five cinemas across London.

"For us to have stuff on YouTube is an achievement but to have your films shown at a cinema is something else," said a proud and happy Christine.

● Select18 is interested in making films with other social enterprises, community groups and charities. They can be contacted by email to laura@chocolatefilms.co.uk - anyone in

ROYAL GREENWICH

Please try to recycle as much as you can over the Easter holiday period. It's a busy time and you will probably find that you have lots more material to recycle, such as Easter egg boxes and wrapping, as well as Easter cards, food packaging and glass bottles and jars.

Remember use your:

Blue top bin or clear sacks to recycle paper, cardboard, plastics, cans, cartons and glass bottles and jars.

- Please rinse all containers before placing them in the blue top bin or clear sacks.
- Do not place food, liquids or general waste in the blue top bin or clear sacks as this will ruin other good recyclable material.
- Do not use black sacks as our crews will not be able to see that they contain good recyclable material and will think it is general waste!

Use your green top bin for food and garden waste. All food waste (cooked and uncooked, including bones) is accepted and you can wrap it in newspaper or use compostable cornstarch or paper sacks. These can be purchased from the council online at www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk/orderwastesacks or by calling the Contact Centre on 020 8921 4661.

- Please ensure that your cornstarch sacks have compostable logo on them.
- Do not put any plastics in the green top bin as we cannot compost it!

Please remember to present your bins or sacks at the edge of your property on collection day so that our crews can easily see them. And don't forget to return your bins to within your property boundary after they've been emptied to avoid obstructing the pavement.

MORE than 200 people tried their hand at board games from around the world at an event last month.

And it was such a success that the Bring the Family Back day is being repeated this weekend.

The international games day invited families and friends to get together at the Old Royal Naval College in Greenwich and enjoy games such as ludo, backgammon, dominoes and draughts.

This month, there is likely to be added interest in the ancient Chinese game of Go following recent stories about the world's top player being beaten by the computer programme, AlphaGo.

A local instructor has been invited to instruct visitors in the skills of chess and there will be the chance to learn how to play the South Asian table game of carrom.

Pamela Franklin from the Caribbean Social Forum, which organises the events with Greenwich Action for Voluntary Services, told Greenwich Time: "The last event was a great success. People talked and shared, and embraced old memories of playing the games in their homeland."

"It was encouraging that a number of people came on their own who would otherwise be lonely at home."

The next family games day will be held at the National Maritime Museum in Park Row, Greenwich on Saturday, March 26 from 11am-4pm.

As well as the many games to try, activities include craft making and a scavenger hunt in the museum as well as a guided tour.

THE personal conflicts neighbours had to endure during the miners' strike in the 1980s are highlighted in a new play coming to Greenwich Theatre. Tinned Goods looks at the bitter dispute in 1984/5 with an all-women cast who play roles from miners and police to family and forsaken friends. Written by Fiona Whitelaw, who also performs on stage, it tells the story of Sue and Rachel who have not spoken since the start of the strike three months earlier. "Once I started watching a documentary footage of the strikes and reading background information I was totally gripped by what the women had experienced," Fiona said. "I knew I wanted to write a play which highlighted a huge public event but to explore it from the point of view of the women involved." Part of Greenwich Theatre's season dedicated to emerging women in theatre, Tinned Goods is performed by the Tea and Tenacity Theatre Company on Wednesday, March 30 at 7.30pm. The theatre is in Crooms Hill and tickets cost £16, children £13.50. Call 020 8858 7755.

IMPORTANT NOTICE FOR ROYAL BOROUGH TENANTS WHO ARE MOVING

DON'T GET A BILL AFTER YOU LEAVE

Under the conditions of your tenancy agreement, you have a responsibility to leave your property in an acceptable state of repair. We may visit you to check this. If we consider your property is in an unacceptable condition, you may be prevented from moving or be recharged for work.

To avoid getting an unwelcome bill, follow these rules:

- Repair any damage caused to the property by you, your family or visitors to your home.
- Make good any changes you have made to your property e.g. put back any doors that you have removed.
- Make sure your garden is not overgrown and you have cleared all garden waste.
- Clear all your items from the inside and the outside of the property. This includes any loft space, external cupboards or sheds.
- Return all the keys to the Royal Borough's offices no later than midday on Monday (or Tuesday if it is a Bank Holiday). You will be charged a further week's rent if you do not return your keys on time.

If you leave repairs that are your responsibility, or items that require disposal you will be charged the cost of this work.

Special Collection Service

The Royal Borough offers a Special Collection Service for tenants who are moving and want to dispose of something big and bulky, like a sofa or a fridge, and even unwanted clothes and other textiles.

Simply contact Waste Services on 020 8921 4661 and tell them where you live and what you would like taken away.

Items we will collect include:

Fridges, freezers, washing machines, beds, sofas, clothes and carpets (carpets must be cut up and tied into manageable bundles that one person can carry).

Items we DO NOT collect include:

Fitted kitchens, bathroom suites, boilers, sheds, fences and rubble.

For further information, please contact Waste Services on 020 8921 4661.

Please leave your home in a good condition!

£10k windfall funds 'greatness' project

A GREENWICH-based arts group received a huge boost when it was awarded a £10,000 grant by BBC Children in Need to pilot a new programme for young people at risk of social exclusion.

The Abram Wilson Foundation will use the cash to start the 'Achieve Your Greatness' project which uses performing arts to engage young people aged 11 – 16.

The grant will pay for a workshop facilitator and six artists to lead sessions, as well as project materials and transport costs. Sessions will take place at Corelli College and Plumstead Manor, running for three days at each location during the summer half term. A final performance session will bring young people from both sites together, as they showcase their work to an invited audience.

BIKE IT: locals get ready for a family ride, inset,
Thierry Bukza making smoothies with pedal power

Family cycle

A WOMAN who hadn't ridden a bike in 40 years got back into the saddle at a Thamesmead Bike Day event. She's now booked a 1-1 cycling lesson. The event at Thamesmead Leisure Centre, organised by Now's the Time and GLL, attracted more than 100 people. There were group skills courses, pedal powered smoothie-making, a bike market, maintenance master classes and a social ride along the Thames path. It's success means the event will run monthly on the first Sunday of the month with the next on April 1, from 10.30am to 6pm. Full details of further events at www.sportingclubthamesmead.co.uk

Ellis heads for Rio

The O'Reilly family are thrilled now that Ellis is just one step away from competing in the Olympics. Mum Jackie said: "All of us are over the moon. Ellis has worked so hard to get this far. If she qualifies at the test event on April 17, the whole family will then be going over to see her in the summer games, and make it a family holiday."

Ellis is supported by Greenwich Starting Blocks, the Greenwich charity set up to help aspiring athletes with the costs of training and competing.

Jackie added: "We want to thank Starting Blocks for all the support they have given her. It would have been so much harder for her without it. We would also like to thank Europa Gymnastics Club for their support, and Samantha James, who has been her coach since she was nine years old."

Peter Bunday, Chair of Greenwich Starting Blocks, said: "This is fantastic news and we believe it will inspire a new generation of young gymnasts from across the Royal Borough of Greenwich. Ellis has consistently shown she is a hard working and talented athlete. Everyone connected with Greenwich Starting Blocks is delighted for Ellis and look forward to cheering her on at the Rio Olympic Games."

Ellis took silver in the individual beam final at last year's Northern European Championships held in Limerick, Ireland. She also picked up silver medals for the best all-round individual and team, and helped Ireland's gymnasts secure their best ever medal haul.

The O'Reilly family are famous for their sporting achievements. Ellis's sister Jenna is a successful boxer, and has made it through to the ABA finals, and brothers Reggie and Frank are also boxers.

PUBLIC NOTICE Royal Borough of Greenwich NOTICE OF SUPPLEMENTARY PLANNING DOCUMENT MATTERS Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004 Town and Country Planning (Local Planning) (England) Regulations 2012 Notice of consultation on the draft Character Appraisal and Management Strategy for the Charlton Village Conservation Area (Supplementary Planning Document)

Royal Borough of Greenwich is inviting public representations on the Draft Character Appraisal and Management Strategy for the Charlton Village Conservation Area (SPD).

Royal Greenwich is producing character appraisals and management strategies (CAMS) for all 28 conservation areas in Royal Greenwich, and has released the latest drafts covering the Charlton Village Conservation Area for public consultation.

The draft character appraisal for Charlton Village tells you about the history and character of this conservation area and what makes it special, whilst the draft management strategy makes recommendations for the area's preservation and enhancement, including proposed changes to the conservation area boundary and proposed buildings to be added to the Royal Borough's Local List. One purpose of the management strategy is to assess whether the existing planning controls are adequate to protect the character of the area, and if not, to recommend additional controls. Another is to encourage building repairs and alterations that are sympathetic to the style and character of the buildings in the area. The CAMS, once adopted, will also assist the Royal Borough in determining planning applications for external alterations and new development.

The consultation is open from 21 March to 3 May 2016. The draft documents are available to view:

- On Royal Greenwich's website at www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk
- At the Royal Borough's principal offices (addresses below)
- At a public drop-in session at Charlton House, Charlton Road, SE7 8RE on Monday 4 April, from 4.30 to 7.30 pm
- At the following Royal Greenwich libraries (times below):

Woolwich Centre Library	Charlton Library

	Closed for lunch 1pm to 2pm

Representations in respect of the draft SPD documents should be sent by email to building-conservation@royalgreenwich.gov.uk or by post to The Royal Borough of Greenwich Planning Policy Team, 5th Floor, The Woolwich Centre, 15 Wellington Street, Woolwich, London, SE18 6HQ by 5pm on 3 May 2016.

Adoption of the Character Appraisal and Management Strategy (CAMS) for the Charlton Village Conservation Area SPD.

All representations made in accordance with timescale, methods and scope of the draft SPD will be considered. Royal Greenwich will prepare a statement setting out a summary of the main issues raised and how these issues have been addressed in the draft SPD which the Royal Borough intends to adopt. The adopted SPD will be published on the Royal Greenwich website and a copy will be made available for inspection at the Woolwich Centre. Anyone who submits a representation can request that they are subsequently notified of the adoption of the SPD, at a specified email or postal address.

Late Night Levy consultation

A new Late Night Levy has been proposed by the London Borough of Tower Hamlets to help pay for the costs of policing the late night economy within the borough.

Views are being sought from residents and businesses in and around Tower Hamlets about the additional charge, which would apply to all businesses that sell alcohol between midnight and 6am.

Introducing a levy will assist both Tower Hamlets Council and the police in helping to manage and improve the local night time economy for everyone.

The Government allows councils to implement late night levies to help pay for the costs associated with reducing alcohol-related crime and disorder.

Proposals for a new Tower Hamlets Late Night Levy would see businesses pay somewhere between £5.75 and £85.38 per week, depending on their size.

The Government is responsible for setting the amount of money a business must pay if a Late Night Levy is introduced to Tower Hamlets.

Tower Hamlets Council does not have the power to limit the charge to certain parts of the borough but plans to offer exemptions to some businesses.

The levy will be collected by the Tower Hamlets Council's Environmental Health and Trading Standards Team at the same time as they receive an annual fee from all licensed premises.

It is proposed that 70 per cent of the revenue received will be given to the Mayor's Office of Policing and Crime (MOPAC) who will administer it to the local Metropolitan Police Service.

The remaining 30 per cent will be kept by Tower Hamlets Council and allocated to projects through the Community Safety Partnership to help reduce alcohol-related crime and disorder.
